J Penn - Investigative Journalist

My website has front page search engine listings across the whole world for terms such as 'Hire an Investigative Journalist', this is down to The Isle of Wight Computer Geek doing exactly what they said they would do, "Exceed Expectations"

My website, although just a simple site, has attracted more contact from around the world than any other promotion method I have used in the past. The way I see it is simple, if you want to be found online, give the Isle of Wight Computer Geek a ring.

Stuart Trimmer QC - 4 Breams Buildings London

We instructed Jamie and his team to produce a new website for Chambers. The product and the service we received were outstanding.

Our new site does all we asked and more. Such a project requires a ready appreciation of the core market to be reached and the use to which the web site will be put. Jamie excels at both. He is ready with his own ideas and to adapt client ideas, to make them work in a practical product.

We are delighted with our new site

Councillor Susan Chorley at Brighstone Parish Council

Brighstone Parish Council is delighted with the website built for it by The Isle of Wight Computer Geek.

Very professional, extremely competent and helpful beyond our every expectation, we cannot speak too highly of the service we are receiving.

Any issues or problems we may have are dealt with effectively and promptly. We are now working through organised and useful training modules about interacting with our site as we wish to post and edit ourselves. If we prefer, the editing will be done for us. We have every confidence in excellent and ongoing support.

Review by Nick Green — Isle of Wight Packaging

Using the services of the Isle of Wight Computer Geek has created more new leads and enquiries for our business than any other advertising that we have done as a business and we have spent far more money on more traditional forms of advertising that have achieved far less (if anything at all) for our business”.

Acting as our online trade counter, our redesigned and optimized website welcomes new and existing customers to learn more about our business, the products we sell and the services that we offer, enables customers to purchase our products online 24/7 and even makes it more convenient for customers to pay their outstanding invoice using a debit card, credit card or even with a registered PayPal account.

The front page position that our website now enjoys on search engines such as Google and Bing for phrases such as “brown paper bags Isle of Wight” proves that the Isle of Wight Computer Geek really can put your website in pole position, so that when people come looking for the products and services that you supply, they find your business first.

The Isle of Wight Computer Geek is a company I would definitely recommend. They did the SEO on my website and within a couple of days my site was showing up on page 1 of google searches for my keywords. The fee I paid was brilliant and they are continuing to update me with search results, as well as being quick to respond to any questions or advice I require. It is excellent to have such a good service local to the Island, and I will suggest them to any friends of mine looking for SEO work.

Jamie himself is very friendly and great at communicating, and was able to explain to me in plain English what work he was doing. I will use this company for any future website work i require.

After trawling the internet for a company to develop my website and being quoted thousands, I stumbled across the Isle of Wight Computer Geek on a list of competitors. I filled in their contact form late one night and at 9am the next day, Jamie called me back.

Straight away I knew he would be good and would exceed my expectations. My website was up and running quickly with customers contacting me within weeks. I cannot recommend their services enough and will continue to pass their details to friends and clients of mine.

My advice is don't waste your time with the corporates, Jamie can do a professional job with the same results at a fraction of the price.

Right from the start The Isle of Wight Computer Geek understood immediately how I wanted my web site to be portrayed. The Computer Geek executed it efficiently, precisely, and professionally, adding a wonderful contemporary twist which I would never have thought of.

There is a 24 hour service, fantastic ongoing support, always available and exceedingly helpful. In today's minefield of "Who to go to?" do not hesitate to go here. You will not be disappointed.

I sincerely cannot believe my luck in finding him. I could not recommend The Computer Geek more highly.

From the outset of trying to create a website to suit our idea we were determined to find a web developer who could guide and help us at every turn and Isle of Wight Computer Geek ticks all the boxes.

Our remit was fairly extensive and on every level the finished article delivers, great quality, fantastic backup and always available when needed.

We really can't thank Jamie enough and to be honest the cost pales into insignificance when you see the finished product. We look forward to a long and rewarding relationship with Jamie

Website design is one of those products that can not just be handed over! Jamie at Isle of Wight Computer Geek not only delivers what he said he would but he follows through post design work! This is and was extremely important to me because this was my first e-commerce website!

There's a lot to learn but The IOW Geek made it easy and simple. I appreciated all time he took getting a better understanding of what I wanted and needed in a website and how he helped me when I had no clue what I was doing! Isle of Wight Computer Geek is a great bang for your buck... And I couldn't be happier with my e-commerce website!

Choosing the Isle of Wight Computer Geek to launch my first dating site was the best move I made. Jamie gave me exactly what I'd asked for in terms of design and functionality & much more with the very complicated software involved. The free after service has been invaluable and Jamie responds to all problems in super quick time.

I would thoroughly recommend Jamie as I feel he actually cares about what is achieved and keeping his customers happy.
